Dear Contributor (s)/Author (s),

I am pleased to share an important update regarding our edited volume, IoT-Driven Accessibility Advances: Innovative Technologies Empowering Inclusive Living.

The book is now available in Online First mode on Springer Nature (July 2026, latest edition). This marks a significant milestone in our collective effort, and it is a moment of pride for all of us.

You can access the book details here:

I would like to sincerely thank each one of you for your valuable contributions, consistent efforts, and trust throughout this journey. Your commitment and belief in this project have played a crucial role in bringing this volume to completion.

This achievement reflects the quality and relevance of your research work in advancing inclusive and accessible technologies through IoT.

Once again, thank you for your support and collaboration.

Regards
Editor
